

Matthew Guyatt

Teaching Professional

Matthew is one of the newer members of the coaching team - teaching at IGC for only two years - but already he has a large client base.

Matthew's popularity among members grew while completing his PGA Traineeship in 2008. Throughout his traineeship he has excelled in all areas, graduating with high distinction in both coaching and playing.

It is Matthew's love of the game and simple improvement methods for his own game that have proved so successful in his teaching. Results based around short game improvement and course strategy are the key to his coaching, although if it is the long game fix you are after, he can help there too!

Mental management is paramount in golf and Matthew works hard in this area with golfers of all levels, from beginners to Professionals.

Matthew currently coaches at all levels:

- Juniors
