

Lee Eagleton

Teaching Professional

Lee brings to the coaching tee a wealth of experience, forged in the heat of tournament golf, and this allows him to deliver a simple effective message to his students.

Lee specialises in allowing his students to develop their own swings within 'good science' so that the focus can be on golfing rather than just swinging.

Lee caters to all levels of golfer from beginner through to elite and representative players

His club fitting specialty also ensures you are getting the very best advice regarding your golf equipment.
