Teaching Professional

'Golf is essentially a simple game... it's just hard to play!'

This comment struck a chord and has become the cornerstone of Gene's coaching philosophy

Encouraging sound set up fundamentals, simple instruction and coaching to fix the root cause of a problem rather than the effects has seen Gene have success with an ever growing client base ranging from beginner to professional.

Gene places a strong importance on the short game and teaching players how to best understand their own game, so as to empower each individual to be able to best manage their games on course in the heat of competition.
